Understanding Spirituality

- Spirituality relates to sources of life meaning, purpose, hope, and connection to what has greatest importance to the person.

- Consumers take the lead in defining and naming this, such as spirituality, religion, faith, culture, or worldview.

- Notice and follow their terms such as God, Higher Power, nature, the universe, personal medicine, vision, voice, spirits, angels or anything else.

- Spirituality may be connected with any or all life domains.

- Provider’s role is to seek understanding of the person’s view, not to impose beliefs, judgments, or terminology.

- Providers focus on the function, actions, and results of people’s engaging spirituality related to their recovery goals.

- When necessary to start conversation, providers use a tentative definition of spirituality that is consistent with professional ethical standards (such as bullet 1 and 2 above) and then follow the cues of the consumer.

- Spirituality can sometimes involve difficulties and struggles, such as excessive guilt, bad experience in a religious group, or aggravating symptoms. If so, address within the consumer’s recovery goals.

Assessing Spirituality Within the Strengths Model of Mental Health Recovery

Purpose

This pamphlet provides guidelines for assessing spirituality when using one of the primary tools of the Strengths Model: the Strengths Assessment.

The Strengths Model supports the mental health recovery process by focusing on people’s personal and environmental strengths and resources. A Strengths Assessment assists the worker and client to explore collaboratively the strengths and resources a person can use to achieve meaningful and important life goals.

The Strengths Assessment identifies strengths in various life domains including:

- Home/Daily Living
- Assets (Financial/Insurance)
- Employment/Education
- Supportive Relationships
- Wellness/Health
- Leisure/Recreational
- Spirituality/Culture

The recommendations included in this pamphlet focus on assessment of spirituality in the Spirituality/Culture domain and also as it may connect with any other life domain.
Principles for Assessing Spirituality

- Use a person-centered approach.
- Develop a trusting therapeutic relationship.
- Support the person’s strengths and resources.
- Identify and describe them in usable form.
- Engage in natural conversation.
- Use a flexible and individualized approach.
- Focus on the person’s priorities.
- Assess the person’s readiness and interest.
- Identify whether the person wishes to address spirituality in the recovery process.
- If the person wishes to address spirituality, then identify relevant goals as connected to any life domain.
- Identify practical actions to achieve the goals.
- Encourage the actions, and, if the client wishes, assist.
- If there is no interest, discontinue.
- Offer questions and suggestions as invitations to clients, not as expectations.
- Choose, adapt, or change our suggested questions (see other side) to fit the situation.

Suggested Questions for Assessing Spirituality

When beginning a conversation about spirituality, some words you can use:

Indirect Approach
- What gives you hope?
- What helps you feel good about your life?
- Tell me about a time in your life when you really felt at peace.
- When do you feel most positive toward yourself?
- What brings inspiration to your life?

Direct Approach
- How do you use spirituality (or religion, faith, etc.) to get through tough times? For example, do you meditate, pray, go to a religious event, visit nature, or do any rituals?
- Holidays are coming soon. What are your plans or family celebrations?
- Is spirituality important to you? If so, how?
- What motivated you to start your spiritual journey in life?
- Has spirituality been helpful to you? Would you be willing to share examples?

Following up when clients mention about spirituality:

Inviting More Conversation
- You mentioned your spirituality (or religion, faith, etc.). Is it okay if I speak with you more about it?
- You mentioned that your (family member, friend, religious group, or mentor, etc.) helps you with your spirituality. Could you say more about that?

Following up: [Regarding anything mentioned]

- Please give a specific example of how that works for you.

Moving to Action
- You described what gives you a sense of hope (or peace, inspiration, etc.). Would you like to talk more about how this might connect with your recovery goals?
- You mentioned ways that spirituality (or religion, faith, etc.) has been (or is) helpful to you. Would you like to discuss how that could be applied to your recovery goals?
- You mentioned ways that you’ve had difficulties or struggles with spirituality. Would you like to address that in your recovery goals?
- Can you describe (the spiritual strength) in terms of something specific you can do to support your goals?
- Can you share examples of how you can use (the spiritual strength) to support your goals?
- Would you like to take this action on your own or would you like me to play a role in helping?
- Would you like help to access any supports or sources of information that could help you take this action? If so, please tell me what I should keep in mind about your beliefs and interests to help me make this connection.
